Contemporary life has enkindled not a new age, but a new breed of Christian woman at Notre Dame. Unheard of in ages past are her aims — above, alive, brimming with surprises and unknowns. She dares to step into territory of her mother's dreams, onto the balance of selfless motherhood and dedicated careers. She knows no other way to taste life than to venture into all aspects of her womanhood. Intrepid, yet gentle, she's the woman of the 80's.

Forming this special type of woman marks the ambition of a girl of Notre Dame. In these high school years, she seeks the limits of her potential. She realizes her worth. Pursuing lasting values and virtues, she enables herself to become a woman for others, which is certainly a woman for today — a woman for the 80's.

People Matter Much To Modern Woman

Her Today Becomes Appreciated As She Involves Herself in Active Life

Caught in the sweep of life, a woman of the 80's actively seeks Christian ideals. Discontented to sit back and yawn with a sigh of indifference at the challenges around her, she jumps into the hum of the world trying to contribute what she can. As she strides through, this woman involves herself with people with a genuine concern for their well-being. She is vibrant.

This air of actively living creeps into many of the pursuits of Notre Dame' girls. The simplicity in their telling a silly joke between friends, or their learning to give of a leisure moment to someone, or even their supporting of a special all-boys school (one of the favorite pastimes of these aspiring ladies) can generate the needed attitude of involvement in the world.

Enwrapping themselves in these high school years, these young women quickly learn that the more they give, the more they involve themselves. By so doing, they become all the more richly aware of this wonderful, but challenging life of the 80's.

Totally Feminine, She Wonders the World

This Striking Style of Versatility Builds Remarkable 80's Ladies

Many girls find that versatility and well-roundedness are keys to developing into the women of the 80's. If they are to thrive in this fast-paced, complex age, they must be many things to many people. This decade requires a women who is strong in her character, yet gentle in the ways in which she relates with people. The 80's demand that she be nimble minded and quick, yet introspective and thoughtful of others. She is forced to compete and prove herself equal to men, yet she must never lose the important distinction of her femininity.

The lives of many of the students harbor much of this potential versatility. Young women of the 80's show they are interested in good Christian living by taking Mary, who is a timeless woman, as a model. May Crowning emphasizes this interest.

While keeping this mentality of Christian living, they are yet concerned with contemporary issues such as fashion. These young women show us that there are such people who are modern Christians, maybe later to be renamed as "virtuous preppies".

Though girls must be serious about their direction in life, they must laugh and truly enjoy the people around them. Resilence is a combat to the pressures of a modern day. Without the lighter times of after school ice cream eating, or in-the-hall "love life" chatter, many girls would cry, "How can I possibly survive?"

In view of all of these pressures, much of the media relays the idea that today's women must be "wonder women" and "super-moms" in order to just keep up. So, Notre Dame girls learn this while they undertake various projects such as mission fair. Modern work is demanding, yet the gratification exceeds it, as is most activities of a woman of the 80's. Idealism must be her "extra push".

Will the many sides of a woman of the 80's never cease to surprise subtly the world as they ennumerate?

STUDENT LIFE

Student Body Honors Patroness Through May Crowning Tradition

May Crowning. A ceremony that has become traditional at Notre Dame Academy. A ceremony that joins the whole student body and faculty together into one body to give thanks and praise to Mary, patroness of the school.

May 21, 1981, was the day given to honor Mary. The seniors wanting to crown Mary had to submit a written essay to Sister Mary Patricia on a topic pertaining to Mary and given to each of them. The faculty, along with the principal, selected the girl who was given the great honor.

Ann-Marie Borgess was selected last year to crown Mary and Laura Czajka was chosen as crown bearer.

Mary is a symbol to all young women of what true, strong womanhood should and can be. She is a torch that the graduating seniors will carry with them as they make their grand entrance into the world. She is a guide that the returning students will continue to follow. They hope to live by her example and in so living, show the world what today's young Christian woman can accomplish in society.

Prior to the crowning of Mary, the new student council officers took their oath of office and pledged to fulfill their duties to the best of their ability. The students then listened to a talk given by Cathy Culkowski an alumna of Notre Dame.

After the talk, the preparations for the crowning were begun by the recitation of the rosary by the student body.

The whole day of events is called Notre Dame Day and is designated in May since May is the month of Our Lady.

Booths Express Sophs' Ingenuity

'Flintstone' Theme Helps Create Successful Soph Mission Fair

"Yabba Dabba Doo!" "Come to the Mission Fair!" Sound familiar? It should! Remember last February 27 when the Notre Dame gym was transformed into the town of "Bedrock" complete with Fred, Barney, and all of their pals? It was the annual sophomore Mission Fair!

After months of planning and preparing, the sophs created a very successful fair which wiped out all former records for profits. According to Sr. Myriam, sophomore homeroom advisor, the 1981 fair netted a total of $2581.

The sophs' ingenuity shined through in their cleverly-designed booths which were the highlight of the fair. Enthusiastic fair-goers could sink their teeth into "treats" from such booths as the "Yabba Dabba Doo Chew" in which unsuspecting contestants chomped on frozen bubble gum, or participants could try their skill at shaving Fred's head (a cleverly disguised ballon!). Certain gullible people were even jailed in "Dino's Doghouse".

For those grumbling tummies, scrumptious treats were sold in the dining hall. Sno-cones, candy, bagels, pizza, and popcorn were just a few of the goodies that were available.

If participants were skillful or lucky at the games, they could choose a reward from the prize booth. Among the choices were fluffy pillows, plants, key chains, dolls and stuffed animals.

To notify the public about the fair, the pulicity committee was organized. Creative signs sporting Fred and his friends could be found in store windows, area churches, and even in the halls of Notre Dame.

All proceeds from the fair were donated to the New Guinea Missions.

St. John's And St. Francis held their homecomings this year during September and October.

St. John's game was held October 3 at Rogers High School. The Titans were victorious over Libbey with a score of 9-7. Kim Lyddy of St. Ursula was crowned queen at halftime and the court member from Notre Dame was Deanna Penn.

St. Francis' game was held at the U.T. Glass Bowl on Friday, September 26. The Knights were defeated by St. Ed's of Cleveland with a score of 21-0.

Two girls from Notre Dame, Lori Newman and Michelle Remynse, were members of the homecoming court. Michelle was crowned the 1981 Homecoming Queen during the half-time activities.

Girls Celebrate Columbus Day

Students Express Unity As They Cheer For Classmates at Contest

Excitement was in the air as students filed into the auditorium on Tuesday, October 13, for the annual Columbus Day Celebration. The afternoon began with a few remarks from the student council president, Trish Hauskenecht, and then it was on to the games.

The first event was the cracker with a sophomore victory. Following the cracker race was the challenging balloon race which found the seniors blowing their way to victory. Thirdly, was the renowned tricycle race. After several eliminations, Jennifer Mossing, a senior, proved to be the free-wheeling champion of the school. Finally, the tug-of-war concluded the eventful day with the seniors victoriously "tugging" their way.

Almost all students agreed that the celebration was a nice respite from the normal school day.

Beatrice and Benedict Hold Audience

National Players Captivate NDA With Comedy, 'Much Ado About Nothing'

Once again the art of Shakesspeare was brought to the Notre Dame stage by the talented National Players. This year's production, "Much Ado About Nothing", marked the sixth visit of the players to the NDA auditorium.

Both students and faculty were captivated by the performance given by the actors and actresses from the Catholic University of America. The audience showed their appreciation by giving a standing ovation at the end of the performance.

As an added treat, some of the performers came out after the production and answered questions from the seniors who were preparing for the senior class play.

Many students summed up their reactions as Senior Karen Beres did, "The whole production was very well done. I think it was the best presentation that the National Players have given here." Younger students agreed that such a performance is one of ND's privileges.

S.C. Officers Stress Leadership

Mickey Mouse and Co. Provides 1981-82 Student Council Theme

Who's the leader of the school who's made for you and me? M-I-C-K-E-Y M-O-U-S-E!" The 1981-82 officers kept this theme rolling along throughout the school year. Besides being President Patricia Hausknecht, Vice-president Rita Mansour, Secretary Jackie LaPlante, and Treasurer Nancy Buehrer, they also used their fictitous names Mickey, Donald, Minnie, and Goofy.

One of the major goals of this year's S.C. officers was to promote school spirit and incorporate it in all their activities. With the help of the class officers, committee members, homeroom reps, and board members, this goal was met.

Dances, bagel and donut sales, card sales, and candy sales kept the student body financially on top. Activities such as assemblies, Student Council date dance, and a Columbus Day celebration started the school year off with great enthusiasm.

The student government wouldn't have been the same without the mighty "MOUSEKETEERS", alias S.C. committee. Members worked hard to perfect decorations and posters that filled the halls of Notre Dame. This year's chairpersons were Deanna Penn and Juliana Lewandowski. All together, Trish, Rita, Jackie, and Nancy strived for school unity and spirit and encouraged all to get involved. They were primed and frequently evaluated by Sister Mary Carol.

Smiles Light Couples' Faces

Dream of Paradise Becomes Reality to ND Students and Their Dates

Saturday October 10, Student Council staged "Paradise Theater" for the annual Student Council date dance. The theme chosen by the student body for this year, taken from a song written by Styx, provided outlet for creativity.

Romantic dancing and music set the stage for the night. "Buster" supplied this year's music.

The annual tradition for the Student Council date dance suggests that the girl buy the bid, pick up her date, and pay for dinner. This kind of dance, commonly called a Sadie Hawkins dance, has been well accepted so far.

Decorations carried out the Paradise theme to a "T". Authentic fishnets and assorted shells bedecked the walls of the gym turned tropical island. Carnations, floating in glass bowls ornamented the tables which were set against the walls to leave room for dancing.

After the girls arrived at Notre Dame, some in chauffered cars, some in daddy's borrowed heap, and some driven by mom or dad, they signed in and were greeted by smiling Student Council officers.

Lately dined couples proceeded into the gym to dance off the fabulous dinner they had enjoyed at places like; Frank Uncle's, The Wine Cellar, Mancy's or The Willows, and many other elite restaurants.

Some couples relaxed at the tables set along the edge of the dance floor. Many couples double-dated and spent the evening together talking or dancing.

Smiles lighted the animated faces in the gym, and the evening seemed a success.

Chaperones stood or sat along the sidelines watching the twirling couples, possibly remembering their high school days.

Volunteers served refreshments in the dining hall where couples could not only quench their thirsts, but also rest their danced-out feet.

The lights burned low, the stage vibrated with rhythm, the band played on and girls wished the night would never end.

Manuevers, Yells Show Spirit

Enthusiastic Girls Stimulate Crowds Cheering At Athletic Activities

This was the second big year that ND had cheerleaders to spark the Eagles' enthusiasm and keep it going strong. The varsity cheerleaders motivated students to come out and support the basketball team by performing a medley of spirited cheers. This year ND proudly presented its first group of junior varsity cheerleaders. The girls proved themselves worthy of their position as they cheered vigorously for the JV team.

The cheerleading squad at St. Francis also contained girls from ND. The girls, representing the varsity and junior varsity squads, livened up the crowd as they spurred the fans to show their enthusiasm for the Knights.

ND girls, again performed another important activity for the Knights as wrestlerettes. They first execute the significant task of keeping accurate scores for every match and secondly, take on the pleasurable task of cheering the wrestlers to victory.

The St. Francis flag corps entertained the crowd by performing many intriguing and difficult routines.

'82 Enjoys Sweets, Flowers, Crowns

Class of '82 Receives Recognition As Elder Sisters Wear Lucy Crowns

December 11 was the day set aside to honor the seniors. Traditionally called St. Lucy's Day, the seniors, as the oldest members of the Notre Dame family, receive gifts of cupcakes from the freshmen and flowers from the sophomores. The crowns were presented to the members of the class of eighty-two by their little sisses, the juniors.

Fathers Boogie With Daughters

Girls Get Their Fathers Into Swing At Annual Father-Daughter Dance

November 13 was the day set for the annual father-daughter dance to take place. The dinner, prepared by Sister Mary Cletis and her staff, with the help of many mothers, consisted of chicken salad, potatoes and a variety of other dishes. Cake and ice cream completed the meal.

The types of dances ranged from fox trots to polkas with a number of others in between. This was the tenth year that Mr. DeMars called the square dances.

Spirit of Enthusiasm Intensifies Class Unity

Juniors Receive Class Rings and Join Upperclassmen with Honest Pride

A strong bond between Notre Dame and each girl was formed with the acceptance of these rings. Every girl took a pledge to wear her ring with pride and to uphold all Notre Dame's beliefs. The title of upperclassmen was bestowed upon the juniors at this time. Being referred to as an upperclassman seemed to be special, as was projected by the cards and announcements the juniors received on that special day.

Throughout the celebration, the theme "God Is Love," was expressed. A Mass, offered by Father Ronald Olszewski, preceeded the actual ceremony. The readings were selected by a special committee. This group also chose the petitions and the music for the liturgy.

As each girl's name was called, the excitement and tension built. Sister Mary Louise Ann, Provincial Superior of the Sisters of Notre Dame presented the class rings with the aid of Sister Mary Patricia and Sister Mary Carol.

Band "Dwarf" Provides Sounds For a Romantic Evening

Belles and Beauxs Generate Exciting Atmosphere at Christmas Dance

On December 19, the juniors and seniors gathered together with their dates for the annual Christmas Dance. The theme "Belles and Beauxs" was chosen and the gym was decorated accordingly with ribbons and streamers. The band "Dwarf" provided the music for the evening.

At ten o'clock, the anticipated moment of the crowning of the queen arrived. Kris Kneisley, 1980 Christmas queen, crowned Ann Marie Francel this year's Christmas Dance Queen. Ann Marie's court members were Eileen Couturier, Jennifer Kufel, Patricia Hausknecht and Elizabeth Young, seniors; Mary Joe Masney and Wendi Huntley, juniors.

Girls chose Mary Trabbic, Claudia O'Grady, Beth Kowalski, Angela Glick, Nancy Buehrer and Martha Bruggeman as junior attendants. Senior attendants were Karen Bruss, Mary Sue Hasley, Jacquelyn La Plante, Susan Win, Maureen Kennedy and Megan Kneisley.

Several committees helped put the dance together: table decorations, wall decorations, bids and refreshments.

Clubs Help Girls Gain Greater Knowledge of Foreign Culture, Languages

Foreign Language clubs exposed girls to the customs, myths, and cultures surrounding the languages they studied in class. Notre Dame at present offers four language clubs: Latin, French, Spanish, and German. These clubs which are supervised by advisors, had meetings on assigned days, after school. This year's language club advisors were Mrs. Cathy Cook, Spanish; Sister Mary Elayne, French; Mrs. Paula Fogt, German; and Sister Myriam, Latin.

Aside from studying the myths surrounding ancient Rome, the Latin club participated in activities. Sister Myriam strongly guided her club through these many important encounters.

One of these successful ventures was button-making. Members of the club, and their guests, made buttons with captions like, "Veni, Vidi, Vici," (I came, I saw, and I conquered,) or "Damihi osculuum loquor Latinam," (Kiss me I speak Latin.) These were only some of the many authentic Roman captions used on the buttons.

The French Club participated in many activities. Some of these included a Mardi Gras celebration, and gourmet French cooking studies. French club members enjoyed cultural activities beyond class procedures.

The Spanish club's activities included constructing pinatas around Christmas time. Mrs. Cook supervised this activity as well as supplying information on the Spanish customs. Speakers visited the group to enlighten them in informal lectures. Many students participated in this club, and with its help they appreciated and understood the Spanish language more.

The German club conducted its meetings in German, a good drill and learning practice for the members. They also had get-acquainted meetings which were very beneficial. This year the club went on a field-trip to Frankenmouth, Michigan. Another Big event was the Saint Nicholas party held during the Christmas season.

League, Father's Club Support Students Through Extra Activities

The seventy-one year old league of Notre Dame, consists of alumnae, mothers of students, and friends of NDA. The League's get-togethers always have a large turnout. These "get togethers" sponsored by the League have many different faces, such as card parties, luncheons, and other general meetings. Occasionally, guest speakers are invited. These meetings are open to the public. Speakers such as Maria Von Trapp have been featured at these meetings.

The Father's Club is very active at Notre Dame Academy, helping in activities by sponsoring many contests and drives. One activity the Father's Club sponsors every year is the annual Father-Daughter Dance.

Along with the Father-Daughter Dance, there are many other activities throughout the year. The fathers often do these activities with their daughters, such as the Father-Daughter Putt Putt game, where the daughters challenged their fathers to a competitive game of golf.

These two clubs; the League, and the Father's Club, also work together on many projects. The League and Father's Club are benefits that Notre Dame would not know what to do without. Their leadership and help is greatly appreciated.

European Cultures Enrich Girls

ND Students Venture To Europe To Experience Lifestyles Abroad

This year Notre Dame girls and friends journeyed near and far. Two trips took them to Europe; the European trip, and the Spanish trip.

The European trip's itinerary included such exotic and read about places as: London, Paris, Lucerne, Milan, Florence, Rome, Bologna, Venice, Salzburg, Viena, and Munich. During the tour, there were many opportunities to shop for souvenirs, and take exciting side trips such as "The Danube River Cruise".

This was a very rewarding experience for teachers and students alike. These European adventurers gained first-hand experience of the mystical places that they had previously read about in magazines, and in novels. Sister Mary Carolanne of NDA and Sister Mary Immaculee of St. Mary's, Sandusky, chaperoned the European trip.

This year Mr. and Mrs. Cook, along with fifteen teenage girls, traveled to delightful Spain.

They toured such famous places as: Barcelona, Sevil, Toledo (Spain), Madrid, Granada, Cordoba, Valencia, Malaga, and Alicante.

Much can be learned from traveling abroad, as these girls found out. Customs and traditions were relived as girls traveled through the fabled towns and villages. The experience can not be compared, and the memory of their travels will stay with these Spanish adventurers.

Students Grow Through Sharing

Mission Reps And Christian Life Groups Spread Christian Spirit

Mission representatives and the Christian Life group spell out two examples of the many ways that Notre Dame girls try to expand their horizons religiously.

The mission reps are guided by Sr. Mary Paulissa. Two representatives are elected by each homeroom to generate spirit for the mission collections. These girls take charge of collecting money from students, counting it, and naming mission babies. Every homeroom competes to see who can obtain the most money.

The Christian Life Group claims girls who are interested in sharing their religious experiences. Sr. Mary Teresa and Sr. Charlyn Marie lead the girls during their monthly meetings. These meetings consist of discussions, prayers, and special services. These experiences help members to strengthen their faith and become mature Christian women.

Girls Prepare To Be Sisters

Prayer Enriches Aspirants Lives On Sure Road To Religious Vocation

This year ten girls have chosen to live as aspirants in St. Joseph's Hall. These young women, between the ages of 14 and 18, have recognized their call to be a sister and have the courage to investigate this calling.

Besides attending Notre Dame Academy, these girls spend their time in prayer, study, recreation, household assignments, and numerous service projects. They follow a schedule that is similiar to that of the Sisters of Notre Dame. Through this experience, they learn to develop a close relationship with Jesus Christ. This, in turn, prepares them for their chosen vocation as a sister.

FBLA and JCWA Keep Girls Active In Planned Out-of-School Projects

Future Business Leaders of America helps girls learn business practices, or rather the ins and outs of the business world.

Notre Dame is only one of the many FBLA posts across America. At FBLA meetings students employ their learning in ways suited to the business world. Members also participate in contests geared toward helping them utilize their business skills and knowledge.

One of the many projects carried on throughout the year is the FBLA candy sale to finance their annual trip to the state convention. This year members sold M&M's.

JCWA or the Junior Council on World Affairs centers on the happenings in today's world, especially from the point of view of government. Its major activity is forming a model United Nations!

Meetings convene after school at least once a month in room 101. Most students who join JCWA have interests in political issues of the world.

Members discuss, argue, and debate on political issues, and foreign and national affairs. Even advisors get caught up in the many debates going around the room.

Meetings are held in an orderly fashion, although once in a while a heated conversation occurs.

Medical Careers and Red Cross Club Create Ever-Lasting Impressions

Medical Careers club consisted mainly of girls who are thinking of pursuing a career in one of the many health professions.

The Medical Careers club advisor presents speakers to lecture about health careers. These informal lectures help girls gain a perspective on the different health careers.

The goal of the Medical Careers club is striving for is the obtaining of information for girls about the many varied careers in health. Many times girls enter into a health profession because of information supplied by this club.

The Medical Careers club is devoted to helping prospective doctors, nurses, and other health personnel in making decisions about their career goals.

Red Cross, another of Notre Dame's clubs boasts a highly active group. Members provide service projects for the community, such as going to nursing homes where visits are appreciated. This appreciation is evident on patients' faces and in their conversations. Those who do not have any remaining family or friends, look forward to the visits of the teenagers.

Another of its many projects is collecting clothes and food for the area needy. Red Cross also organizes the blood drive here at Notre Dame, and area rest homes.

Members of Red Cross who have the time, also work at the Toledo Red Cross building downtown, many as blood service aides.

To be a blood service aide, girls had to take classes, in which they were taught to take temperatures correctly, register blood donors, and ultimately, help registered nurses taking care of the donor's needs.

FBLA, JCWA, Medical Careers, and Red Cross clubs prepare girls for the competitive and compassionate life they will ultimately lead, as women in the 80's. Activities this year sped them on to their goal.

Diligent Students Find Relaxation Throughout Hectic School Year

Besides struggling over schoolwork for five days a week, some girls find extra time for fun filled activities along with part-time jobs.

Some weekend free time events include dances, parties, games and an occasional movie. Once in a while, a popular musical group will perform to a sold out crowd at the Sports Arena or Centennial Hall. Among the groups that have visited Toledo this year are The Moody Blues, The J. Geils Band, Black Sabbath, Blackfoot, R.E.O. Speedwagon and Foreigner.

Besides participating in fun activities, many girls also hold part-time jobs to help pay tuition or just to have a little extra cash. A few places among many that employ girls from Notre Dame are Farrell's, Olga's Kitchen, McDonald's, Churchill's and assorted clothing shops throughout the city. Other girls make a few dollars by babysitting, caring for yards or running errands for the lady down the street.

This year, as in previous years, several fads have become popular. Rubik's Cube is one of these. (There is now a book out to help one solve this mind-boggling game).

There are also the fashion fads. Once again, the preppie look is dominating the fashion magazines. An occasional "punkish" outfit which is becoming more popular in the line of fashion also gets the spotlight.

Religious Studies Pave the Way

Religion Classes Aim to Produce Strong, Loving Christian Women

When young women come to NDA, they are informed that NDA's purpose is to educate both academically and spiritually. The religion department allows the students on opportunity for growth spiritually through formal classes and religious activities.

As students become juniors and seniors they have mastered the foundational laws and beliefs according to which they should be living. Because of this, the upperclassmen take courses which apply what they have learned to everyday life situations.

A new experience for the upperclassmen was the combination of juniors and seniors in the same religion classes. All upperclass religion classes were like this except for the ecumenism course, taken by juniors only, which give them the opportunity to learn about other religions; and the marriage course, taken by seniors only, which prepared them for married life.

The students were allowed to elect some courses which they take in conjuction with required courses.

Girls Grow In Love For Christ

Religion Class Begins Foundation Of Strong Christian Womanhood

Religion courses offered in ND's curriculum aim to aid each student in the realization of the presence of Christ in her life.

The freshman course involves building on the religion courses taken prior to high school, providing a basic knowledge of the Catholic faith.

As sophomore year arrives, courses treating of specific areas of religion, including church history, the saints, Jesus Christ, relating, are presented in six week sessions.

Opportunities for spiritual growth do not terminate after a forty minute class each day. Opportunities for growth are provided through school Masses and the use of the chapel, both independently and as a part of a religion class.

Retreats, conducted on each class level, truly pull together the ideals learned in religion classes and focus on a particular theme concerning one's spiritual life.

Along with the numerous experiences provided aside from school related activities, such as parish retreats, or TEC's (Teens Encounter Christ), ND offered a Christian Life Group at each class level.

Religious opportunities provided through one's schooling, can prove to be invaluable as students continue their lives as women of the 80's.

Dedication And Hard Work Pays

Advice From Counselors Proves Beneficial To All NDA Students

Regardless of the choice of career or lifestyle each student makes for the future, strength and leadership are demanded of her. However, she needs help to come to those decisions — and support when she fails. This is the objective of the guidance counselors stationed at NDA.

The immense effort they have put forth to aid each girl maximally throughout her four years of high school, will prove to be priceless advice as she prepares to "conquer the world."

Guidance counselors are provided for students throughout their four years of high school along with a career counselor, a psycologist and a priest. They made themselves available almost around the clock.

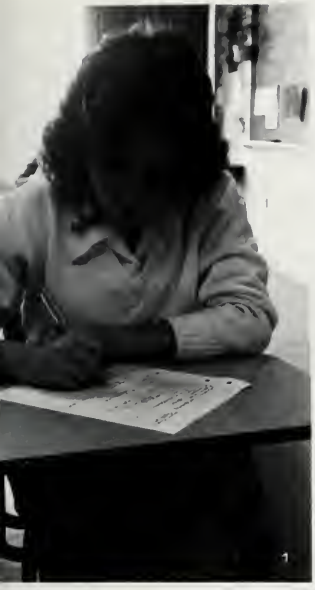
Classes Explore Literary Works And Study Grammar Structures



In English classes this year every student was dared to meet the challenges and goals which were established for her in each particular course. Great pains were taken in learning more and more about the grammar and vocabulary aspects as well as in the comprehension of sometimes difficult literature.

Freshmen spent very much of their first year improving writing and vocabulary skills with each paper they created and completed. Also, through this course, they were able to reach out and grasp the many different horizons of reading which are offered to them. They read one of William Shakespeare's greatest plays, Romeo and Juliet. By taking an orientation course for one semester, freshmen were able to develop their writing abilities and study habits more fully.

Writing skills were greatly improved sophomore year just as well, but more time was spent discovering "encounters" in literature. Another of Shakespeare's most powerful writings, his famous tragedy, Julius Caesar, was read by the sophs during this past year.

Juniors studied different centuries of American literature and all girls relaxed and breathed a heavy sigh of relief as they completed their thoroughly researched and thoughtfully carried out term papers.

Seniors once again had a long list of choices to select from. Among these choices were novel and poem, epic and drama, world and British literature, individualized reading, creative writing and advanced composition. With a list such as this, no senior had trouble selecting a course of English which interested her.

Journalism I was offered to any sophomores or juniors, who carried good English grades. Journalism II and III involved actual journalism production; only students qualified for staff positions took these courses. These courses were preparation for any girl who wishes to go into a field of communication as well as valuable production of school publications.

Future Virtuosos Express Individuality

Speech Students Learn Proper Oratorical, Dramatic Techniques

Public Speaking and expressive speech are two of the means by which students studied the communication arts this past year. Classes were few in number, allowing for more individualized attention. Girls delved into studying different areas such as drama, oratory, competetive speaking, and audio-visual presentations. The technical area of communications was explored by offering practical training in sound recording video recording and radio.

The main purpose of these classes, offered on a semester basis for expressive speech and a full years course of public speaking and basic speech, was to give students a sense of confidence in the presence of other people, and to gain a general knowledge in the art of oratory.

During class, students transformed the acts of communicating into art. Volume, intensity, enunciation, and emphasis were all stressed as important aspects of this class. Such assignments as speech-making, pantomimes, memorization, video-taping, play casting, and make-up were all vital in making class a broad study.

It takes a special kind of girl who can prepare a speech, memorize it, present it to a group of people, watch herself on video-tape, accept criticism, and use all of these, employing to improve her communication skills.

France Trip Planned For Summer

'La Langue D'Amour Provides Cultural Understanding For 'Filles de Notre Dame'

Sister Mary Elayne and Sister Mary Teresa help girls of all levels master the French language. Their techniques include not only text books, but also workbooks, dialogues, listening skills, French movies, French Canadian television programs, vocabulary games, singing French songs, studying geographic regions and cultural costumes.

Summer '82 will give these "elves" a chance for practical application of their skill when Notre Dame girls travel to France.

The first and second year students learn the fundamentals of the language with basic grammer, sentence structure, and vocabulary. Third and fourth year students continue their education in "La langue d'amour" with more practice in oral french and in the understanding of the spoken dialect. Also, they are required to devote a major part of their time to writing compositions.

A highlight of the year on every level is the preparations for the University of Toledo's foreign language day. French students work on skits, puppet plays, reciting poems and prose, building models of "des chateaux", cultural artifacts, baking french treats to be sold during the day and studying for a cultural and vocabulary quiz. '81-'82 students aimed to keep on bringing home first place.

Hablamos el Espanol

Estudiantes de Espanol Preparan To Learn About Spanish Culture

The Spanish classes at NDA, which are taught by Sister Myriam, Sister Gonda Marie, and Mrs. Catherine Cook spent a very exciting year learning not only the language, but also the customs, cultural facts, and the geographic regions of Spain.

First and second year students concentrated their time and energy on learning how to speak, write, and read the language with an ease only a Spaniard could relate to. They managed to accomplish this not only through textbooks, but also through taped dialogues and filmstrips.

Third and fourth year students mastered the complex arts of in depth writing and speaking. Essays and dialogues were continuously assigned to all upperclass students, for as the old saying goes, "Practice makes perfect."

One highlight of the year for all Spanish students is the foreign language day at the University of Toledo which is held every spring. The "chicas" from Notre Dame always steal the show from other Spanish speaking students who attend various schools in the area with their excellent puppet plays, plays, posters, homemade pinatas, and many different cultural artifacts. Also, girls can participate in the cultural and vocabulary quizzes.

Who knows? Perhaps in the not too distant future many of the "chicas" from NDA will have an opportunity to use their skill and knowledge of the language in one of the many neighboring Spanish-speaking countries.

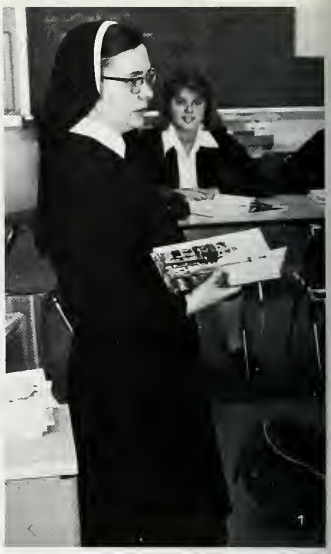
Latin Makes Impact on Students And Stimulates Interest in Virgil

Latin became an integral part of some students. Sister Myriam's teaching drew interest by making Latin and the history of Rome applicable to modern day occurrences.

First and second year students learned fundamental sentence structure, pronunciation, and verb conjugation. Third and fourth year classes were combined. Passages from Virgil's Aeniad came alive as these students followed Aeneas on his turbulent journey to found Rome. Students were also made aware of the figures of speech that Virgil used and his great artistic use of Latin.

Latin is the basis for all Romance languages and students were made very much aware of this fact. Sister Myriam prepared the girls for the PSAT, ACT and SAT by teaching common Latin roots. This made the students confident of vocabulary and aware of the great impact that Latin and the Roman Empire had on lives of today's students.



Revised A-LM Books!!

Das Rad', 'Schuss', 'Der Roller' Supplement German Enrichment

"Sprechen Sie Deutsch?" These words had meaning to the fifty German students at N.D. Using the revised A-LM text books, students understood German culture as was seen in the daily lives of these young people. This new series expanded on visuals, reading, and writing.

The first and second year students used Unsere Freunde while third and fourth year students used, Die Welt de Jugend and Contemporary German Life. As a further enrichment the students read magazines; "Das Rad", "Schuss", and "Der Roller".

German teachers Mrs. Paula Fogt, and Sister Miriam drew on their knowledge and experience to enrich their students further. Sister Miriam held the fort while little Eric Arrived.

Observant Scientists Detect Life

Emphasis In Biological Courses

Life. Life constantly abides within the midst of diverse environments. The biological sciences offered at Notre Dame, health, biology, and physiology, helped capture the splendor and brillance of life, and bring it to the hearts and minds of all students. These courses aided in the appreciation and respect of life.

Health, a course emphasizing personal care, was required for all freshmen. Various body parts and their functions were taught. After this course, students were aware of the life conditions around them and were able to recognize how their actions added to the perserverance or deterioration of living things.

Biology consists of the progression from the cell to protists, to plants and animals, and finally, to man. Students discovered the unity and the unique characteristics in these organisms. The discussion of molecular and cellular biology, an understanding of genetics, and the exploration of ecological relationships were all taught in this course. With the assistance of films, speakers, and those unforgetable dissections of the earthworm and frog, students were able to gain a better understanding of biology.

Students challenged for a still deeper message in the life science courses had the opportunity to take physiology, a senior course.

As women of the 80's, the medical career openings for women increased considerably. With this advantage in mind, girls pursuing these kinds of careers took physiology.

There were numerous scientific minds behind these life sciences courses. Health classes were instructed by Sister Mary Fabian, Mrs. Kathleen Singler, and Mrs. Lee Thorbjornsen. Training possible future biologists were Sister Marya, and Mrs. Kathleen Singler. Mrs. Lee Thorbjornsen also taught physiology.

Chemical Formulas And Processes Bogle Minds

Physical Sciences Enable Girls To Master New Academic Challenges

Challenging chemists and physicists to understand and work the physical sciences of chemistry and physics, teachers aimed high.

Chemistry is a physical science treating of the structure, composition, and changes in matter, why these changes occur, what products are formed, and the energy changes encountered. This knowledge was gained from observation, study, and experimentation. Topics as simple as electron configurations and as complex as stoichiometry, or balancing an equation, were thoroughly examined in this course. Also in chemistry class, girls found out if iron plus water yields iron oxide plus hydrogen or $3Fe + 4H_2O \rightarrow Fe_3O4 + 4H_2$. Balances and Bunson Burners aided the students in accurate measurements and in heating processes.

Physics is a physical science studying energy, math, and their properties. Electrical, heat, magnetic, mechanical, and wave energies were included in this program. The opportunity to learn the laws that govern matter and energy of the universe were offered to the students. Heating, chemical, and magnetic effects as well as reflection, refraction, diffraction, and polarization were introduced. This year, Sister Mary Lewellin led the physicists in such experiments as finding the exact size of an olec acid molecule and the number of calories lost in a thermal energy heat transfer.

The master minds behind all this scientific knowledge were Sister Mary Irene and Sister Mary Lewellin. Sister Mary Irene instructed girls in basic chemistry, and Chemistry I. Sister Mary Lewellin assisted girls in meeting the challenges of Chemistry I and II, and Physics. Chemists in Chemistry I accepted the challenge of more emphasis on labratory work, as opposed to basic chemistry students. Both sisters kept students completely absorbed.

Numbers Jumble in Student's Heads

Girls Use Knowledge To Become Diligent, Precise Mathematicians

To be a well-educated woman of the 80's, one must obtain a knowledgeable background in mathematics, whether it be in pre-algebra, Algebra I, geometry, consumer math, Algebra II, advanced Algebra II, or introductory analysis.

In the world of algebra, grasping the concept of variables and equations, and even graphing them, may seem difficult at first. But after long tedious hours of study, analyzing quadratic equations and functions, and using exponential and logarithmic functions can become "old hat".

Geometry students had the opportunity to become familiar with geometric shapes, points, lines and planes. Providing reasons for proofs also became a daily activity. Graphing geometric figures, such as rhombuses, trapezoids and parallelograms broadened their abilities.

For sophomores not wishing to take geometry, consumer math enabled girls to learn better economic efficiency. Introductory analysis captured a closer look into abstract algebra and problem analysis. Students pursuing a career in the mathematical field, which is becoming more common in the 80's, found this advantageous.

Notre Dame's math department, this year and in the past, had a strong scholarly faculty accented with accomplished mathematicians. Assisting students with their pre-algebra studies was Sister Marya. Algebra I instructors were Sister Mary Delores, Mrs. Charlotte Leslie and Sister Mary Irene. Sister Mary Beatrise, Sister Charlyn Marie and Mrs. Charlotte Leslie trained girls in geometry and Mrs. Leslie also taught consumer math. Educating future mathematicians in the Algebra II classes were Sister Charlyn Marie, Sister Mary Joetta and Sister Loretta Marie. Sister Mary Lewellin instructed students in advanced Algebra II studies, while Sister Loretta Marie taught also the introductory analysis course.

Juggling Figures Stimulates Girls

Business Holds Future Positions For Energetic, Alert Women Executives

Students this year were introduced to the business world through a variety of courses such as general business accounting, consumer economics, typing, shorthand, data processing and office practice.

Students took courses in the business department for diverse reasons. Some took courses for personal needs such as learning how to balance a checkbook for the day that they will open a checking account, or learning how to type term papers for their future days in college. Others who took business classes hoped to pursue a business career.

Business teachers, Sister Mary Anna Therese, Sister Mary Virgie, Mrs. Janet Moore and Mrs. Christine Troknya taught the business courses this year. Each enhanced her students as her own personality and experience in business teaching dictated.

Future office workers found the courses enriching as well as challenging.

Many have decided to pursue a few business courses in college as a result of taking high school introductory courses. They become aware that high school could not complete the work.

Social Studies Classes Project Light on Mankind's Dark Past

NDA Students jumped into their time machines and pressed that magic button which took them back to see famous places and meet famous people in time. Actually this is a little far-fetched but they did study famous people and events of the past in social studies classes.

They studied the cultures of people all over the world. They studied the two famous world wars, and even how the American system of government came to be.

But besides learning straight from the books, some classes staged sessions of today's congress. Students participated in a variety of other activities to enhance their knowledge, and to satisfy their interests.

Besides studying the accomplishments of man, the behavior of man was also studied in the social psychology class.

The faculty included, Sr. Mary Teresa, Sr. Mary Antoni, Sr. Mary Clarette, Mrs. Jenny Biler and Mrs. Mara Oess, who provided the best possible atmosphere for teaching their field.

Dulcet Notes Resound In Halls As Music Practice Makes Perfect

Sister Mary Krista led girls to improvement of their voices. Chorus I and II employed warmup exercises so that the proper notes could be reached. After this they worked on their songs of harmony.

Music appreciation, theory, and tunes were also a part of chorus work. Daily sight reading and practicing scales contributed to a well blended effect.

What some NDAers might not know is that Sister Mary Krista writes some of the songs sung by the girls.

Directed by Sister Mary Helaine, the orchestra strove for perfection. They learned the basic rhythm, beat, and other fundamentals of musical theory.

Both orchestra and chorus gave several performances for the students and their families. They also performed in assemblies. Thus they entertained as well as enriched fellow students.

Budding Picassos Exhibit Enthusiasum

Reflection Of Artist's Personality Shines Through In Compositions

Artwork, that uniquely individual expression of one's moods, emotions and total personality put forth to create an unparalleled masterpiece.

Art, offered in the major program as well as the fundamentals program, sought to expose various types of media with different means of using it along with a diverse selection of subjects, each with a particular purpose in mind.

The Major Art I, II, III, and IV program, under the supervision of Sister Suzanne Marie, exsisted for students interested in art as a major and considering entering the art field in the future.

Students who desired art as a minor enrolled in the Art Fundamentals I, II, or III classes, conducted by Mrs. Carole Booth.

The creative works of both programs were displayed periodically in the illuminated show cases throughout the school year for all to admire.

Classes Cook Up Storm

Home Ec. Students Gain Practice In Essential Home-Life Situation

In the 1980's, the qualities of being a homemaker as well as a career woman are being demanded by society. Consequently, the ability to manage a home cannot be slighted by the presence of a career.

The home economics courses offered in the curriculum prepare students for a future time when they will have a home, family, and perhaps a career also.

Sister Mary Margaret Ann's foods class stress cooking skills as well as planning well-balanced, money-saving meals.

In clothing, taught by Sister Mary Gregory, the students learn how to create an attractive wardrobe and save money through sewing. That personal sense of accomplishment also shines through as the girls complete their projects.

The family living course, instructed by Sister Mary Margaret Ann also covers everything from child care to money management. Both of these aspects as well as the skills learned in foods and clothing will indeed aid the future homemaker and career woman.

Girls Often Suffer Writer's Block

Journalism Staff Crams Rm. 314 With Tough Work And Laughter

Broken pencil points, an assignment sheet laden with pictures yet to be printed, 360 typewriter keys tapping per minute, and 25 extremely frustrated girls trying to complete each particular job were familiar sights on those dreaded deadline nights. In the light of what has been said, some will still have the nerve to question what the staff members do in room 314 until 9 o'clock p.m. on weekdays or all day Saturday and Sunday. They produce the award winning Regina and "Notre Dame" — that's what!

The school yearbook and newpaper would not have been possible without the dedication and hard work of the staff members and advisor, Sister Mary Carolanne SND.

However, when the publications are hailed with satisfaction by their readers, those near nervous breakdowns and hours of lost sleep seem to be compensated for adequetly . . . and theats to quit dissolved.

Gym Stimulates Physical Fitness While Advocating Sports Activity

A welcomed break from hitting the books for the freshmen and sophomores was physical education class, instructed by Mrs. Pamela Edgell.

Gymnastics and soccer were just two of the exciting sports in which the first year students were trained.

The sophomores mastered the arts of fencing and of a precision game of golf.

Girls were not only taught the basic rules and skills of each sport through filmstrips and first hand experience, but also learned those important qualities of competition and sportmanship.

When all the fun was over and the activity completed, a written examination was given to reveal how well each girl learned the rules and objectives of each sport.

Juniors and seniors who desired involvement in a phys-ed class had the opportunity to become a gym assistant. The girls aided Mrs. Edgell by checking the performance of each girl and frequently conducting skill tests.

Gym participants found physical education to be an asset in keeping healthy and in good physical shape, as well as a valuable learning experience for sportswomen of the 80's.

Eagles Soar To Regain Title

Varsity Tennis Team Maintains High Rank Again As All City Champions

For the second straight year, the Eagles earned the distinction of being the city's best girls' varsity tennis team.

Headed by Coach Pam Edgell, the team finished 12-0 in the City League and 18-2 overall. They captured the City Tournament by winning three divisions and finishing in the semifinals of the others.

Early in the season, the team competed in the Monroe St. Mary's Invitational. The Eagles placed second out of a field of eight.

After the sectional playoffs, a number of Eagles remained in the tournament. Those qualifying for the district competition were Jean Keating, Claudia O'Grady, Adelaide Lee, and doubles team Jodi Jordan and Sue Mermer. Many members plan to try out for the '82-'83 team.

Team Adopts Chip-Ahoy as . . .

Enthusiasm Leads Junior Varsity Tennis Through Successful Year

With the Chip-Ahoy Chocolate Chip Cookie as their mascot, the JV Tennis team victoriously completed another year. Ms. Mary Lynn Reynolds coached the Eagles through the season.

The Chip-Ahoy was chosen as the team's theme after the overall massive consumption of the cookies was apparent.

The team's final record was 7-1 with their only loss given to a varsity team. They have expressed determination to keep all-city title.

Volleyball Team Proves Unity To Be the Key to Success

Volleyball Squad Reflects Growth Of Women's Strength In Sports

The rate of women's participation in sports has increased greatly in the 80's. The Eagle Volleyball Squad has shown this increase since its origin in 1979. The team's record for their first season in City League competition was 4 wins and 9 loses. In 1981 under the direction of Ms. Kathy Smith, their standings were improved with a record of 6 wins and 11 loses.

JV Eagles "Bump Off" Opponents

Spiking Their Course To Victory JV Captures City League Title

The JV team reflected tremendous accomplishment not only in its City League Title, but also in its great improvement. Ranked in first place, the group led the league with an 11-1 record. The Eagles were coached to victory by Ms. Smith and captain, Suzanne Mouch. Just three years ago a JV volleyball team was no where to be found at NDA.

Varsity Basketball Team Betters Record Through Diligent Efforts

In this, their second year in the City League, the Eagles have improved last year's record to a respectable standing. Powerful plays and skillful schemes allowed the team to pull off a few upsets. Or were they upsets? Co-captain Wendi Huntley answers, "Our team has improved greatly because over the summer we attended camps together. We really work as a team."

The JV team, however, changed very little since last season. A winning team last year pulled through as a powerful and feared team this year, too. The Eagles in basketball are on the move to the top!

The Varsity Eagles ended their 1981-1982 season with an 11-11 record. The Junior Varsity Eagles concluded their season with an 18-1 record. Rivals must be prepared for next year when the belligerent Eagles strive for fame and fortune!

Eagles Strut Their Stuff

Track Team Sprints Way Ahead With Spirit, Enthusiasm, Dedication

The 1981 Track Team participated in a variety of matches. They won two of three dual meets, and won one of four tri-meets and placed second in two of them. They finished sixth of eight teams at the Sylvania Invitational Meet, third of four teams at the Scott Relays, and ninth of fourteen teams at the City Championships.

Members of the team were Sandra Bergfield, Angela Cunningham, Chris Martinez, and Julie Nesbit, 1981 seniors Suzanna Batanian, Anette Cousino, Laurie Kreuz, Mary Kwiatkowski, Susan Mermer, Pamela Stevens and Elizabeth Young; Juniors Patricia Beckmann, Kathleen Gallagher, Cynthia Olsezewski, Christy Palmer, Patricia Prior, Mellisa Rady, Marie Stavrolakis, Kelly Swoope, Alice Ustaszewski, and Helen Walsh; Sophomores Donna Demsey, Julie Denko, Karen Henning, Gretchen Links, Gretchen Loeffler, Susan Miller, Nancy Ney, Susan Strong, Stephanie Tillman, and Margaret Yuan.

Sherrie Matthews Runs Onward As Teammates Follow Close Behind

The 1981 Cross Country team made outstanding changes to their squad from last year. Besides boasting State Champion Sherrie Matthews, the team as a whole ran up quite a season. In its first season, the running Eagles were hard to find as there were only 7 members. That number increased to 15 during the 1981 season, enabling Coach Kidd to have a Varsity and JV team. He looks forward to greater successes.

H_2O Lovers Swim Through Year Stroking Away With Improvement

With the beginning of December came also the beginning of Notre Dame's swim season. The season officially started December 10 at Sylvania Southview with the aquatic Eagle's first meet. The thirteen breastroking, freestyling, sidestroking, butterflying, backstroking, and diving girls did more than dog paddle it through their ten hour week practice schedule and meets. These hard working, dedicated swimmers either have a great love for the sport or are really into physical fitness.

NDA Bowlers Strike Up Season Without Sparing Their Opponents

This year's bowlers tackled their season and finished it with a winning record. This is the third consecutive winning season for the bowling Eagles. Participants met on Saturday mornings at Imperial Lanes and played such teams as St. Francis and St. John's. The team placed fifth in their league for the first half and are quite pleased with this accomplishment.

Club Offers Vital Support As . . .

Boosters Back Athletes' Activities With Hard Earned Financial Aid

The Notre Dame Academy Booster Club has proved to be a big benefit to the school's athletic program. This year the club's main project was new uniforms, a home and away set, for the varsity basketball team. They also purchased new practice volleyballs, tennis balls, and game basketballs.

The club had four big fund raising activities this past year. They included two pizza sales, a Christmas tree sale, and the annual spaghetti dinner. The projects proved successful and a big boost for athletics.

Without the support of the Boosters, the athletic program would suffer. Practice equipment, uniforms, and supplies can be purchased only through outside funds. The Boosters have come through as the supporting aid that keeps the sports alive. They plan still more projects for '82-'83.

Juniors Fall Short By 1 Point

Goldtrotters Overcome Opponents As Class Of '82 Ranks On Top

With only three seconds remaining in the championship game between the Senior Goldtrotters and the Junior Shooting Stars, Sue Mermer, senior, sank the winning point from the foul line. The foul was committed in the act of shooting with a 30-30 tied game.

The atmosphere was electric; the juniors prayed the shots would be missed, the seniors hoping the opposite. The referee handed Mermer the ball. The first shot went up and bounced out. Again the referee handed Mermer the ball. Up went the shot. Swoosh! Up went the crowd and up went the game. The remaining three seconds proved not long enough for the juniors.

The seniors made it into the finals after defeating the Sophomore Superstars, 33-13. The juniors reached the finals after dribbling over the Freshmen Blue Streaks, 23-13.

In the consolation game, the class of '85 outplayed the class of '84, triumphing over them 12-8.

Frosh Spirit Shines

Lively Freshmen Display Energy, Zip, Determination, Through School Year

"We've got spirit, we're alive, we're the class of '85!" That was the motto chosen this year for the enthusiastic new freshmen. After one year of learning and growing together, the freshmen have grown accustomed to handling responsibilities such as leading their class in spirit, planning liturgies, or the toughest — juggling all of their homework at one time! The class of '85 has certainly proved over and over again how much dedicated love and loyalty they have for NDA.

Freshmen Class Officers lead class in spirit: Heidi Rummel, treasurer; Jennifer Sander, secretary; Elizabeth Areddy, vice president; and Maureen Hanrahan, president.

Oh No! Not Orientation!

Freshmen all Make It Through 'Culture Shock' Of High School

Just as anybody else, the freshmen experienced some pretty rough times, but somehow managed to struggle their way through algebra, English, a foreign language, and the worst, orientation! It's definitely a difficult transistion to make from grade school to high school, but the class of '85 came up on top with their big sisses there to lead and guide them through any hard times.

Class of 85 Comes Alive With Spirited Enthusiastic and Total Involvement

Light blue and dark blue colors vibrantly shone throughout the year as the freshmen displayed their spirit at such events as intramurals and rowdy assemblies. There were many freshmen athletes who competed in competitive sports such as basketball, volleyball, tennis, track, and swimming. There was also a new tradition this year of having five freshmen junior varsity cheerleaders chosen to root the basketball team on to victory.

New Challenges Await Sophomores. Officers Lead Way Toward Success

This year's sophomore class was led through their trials, tribulations, joys, and triumps, by President Gretchen Links, Vice-President Susan Kozek, Secretary Susan Strong, and Treasurer Karen Henning.

These four girls were aided by six board members who assisted in various class projects. Board positions were filled by Jeanne Hagan, Kelly Gerrard, Gretchen Loeffler, Nancy Ney, Dina Pienta, and Dominique Wong.

Homeroom representatives completed the leadership scale. Each representative is elected by her homeroom to report on class meetings as well as student council meetings. First semester representatives included Lori Davis, Marcia Maher, Jennifer Floyd, Deborah Wanamaker, Sally Wisner, and Suzanne Christ.

Aiding these spirit-making leaders were the sophomore homeroom advisors: Sister Suzanne Marie, Sister Marya, Sister Mary Paulissa, Mrs. Kathleen Singler, Mrs. Lee Thornbjornsen, and Sister Myriam Powell.

Sophomores Display Their Spirit; Many Activities Keep Zippy Girls Busy

Sophomore students swang into action this year with activities galore. Superstar spirit, which is very evident in the class of 1984, was shown to the whole school on pigtail day. Many students dressed up their pulled up tresses with ribbons in the class colors, blue and green.

The largest activity of the year was the annual sophomore mission fair, a carnival sponsored to earn much needed money for the New Guinea missions. This year the Muppets appeared as the theme for the fair. Many people came out to try their hand at the numerous games, hoping to win a prize, as well as dicing into the numerous candies and confections for sale.

The Superstars once again made a strong showing at the Columbus Day picnic, capturing many of the prizes available from such games, whistling after chewing crackers, and the balloon race.

Green and blue pompoms waved proudly as the sophomores passed and shot their way to a strong finish in the annual competition.

Julie Zeman, Jennifer Wolfe, and Janelle Yeager shout encouraging words to their teammate in the cracker race at the Columbus Day celebration. No soph was to fail in any contest if the cheering squad could have their way.

Happy Memories Follow Year's End

Sophomore Year Brings Fun From Archery Lessons To Lab Reports

Sophomore year. What is it? Is it changing gases into liquids in biology class? Is it playing field hockey in gym class? Or is it mission fair? Sophomore year is all these things and more.

Squeamish stomachs accompany the bisecting of fish and worms in biology. Classifying plants and animals into kingdoms, phylums, classes, orders, families, genuses, and species takes up a few class periods, but writing the lab reports proves to be the most difficult part.

The last year of gym is full of individual sports. In archery, the object is to hit the red center called the bullseye. Before Christmas, sophomores can be seen whirling and twirling around the gym floor to the call of the square dance caller. Routines on the floor, beam, or trampoline have to be made during the second semester, from all somersaults, pivots, and flips learned in first year gym class. The year rounds out with running the hurdles and throwing the discus and shotput in track.

Many months of planning and many committees, ranging from booths to foods, helped bring the mission fair into reality. The sophomores had a very successful fair. The theme, the Muppets, was brought out in everything: posters announcing the fair, the game booths at the fair, and the food booths in the dining hall.

All in all, the sophomores had a very busy year, as a preparation for the responsibilities of upperclassmen.

Shooting Stars' Spirit Developes More Unity Among Class of '83

"Great we are, and great we'll be; We're the class of '83." For three years the motto has held true. Along with becoming upperclassmen, the junior class was introduced to many new experiences! They included, the very first time at Christmas dance, their first Notre Dame prom, and ring ceremony. On the lighter side, there were powder puff football, a class hay ride, making crowns for St. Lucy's Day, preparing the senior skit, their third time around for intramural basketball with the blue and white "Shooting Stars", and their third May crowning. From the scholastic point of view, they could enjoy Algebra II, Chemistry I, a third year language, American history, foods, clothing, or even a study hall, and of course no more gym class.

Class President Claudia O'Grady felt, "In every class, it's up to all individual members to contribute a special spirit that could make or break the class. I think that our class of '83 has made it by far!"

Karen Rosenberger, Kathleen Gallagher, Kara Kelley, Megan Gallagher and Amy Holmes would rather pose than watch the football game.

Juniors Work To Survive Year

Upperclass Status Invades Class Pride, Confidence, Self-Assurance

The 157 members of the Class of 1983 form the 1981-82 Junior Class. After their first year as Upper-Classmen, these girls have realized they will soon become the real women of the 80's. They can choose any profession, even those that were previously restricted to men only. As Christian women they also realize that the value of the training and education received at Notre Dame will help guide them through the rest of their lives.

'82 Is Coming Through

Senior Class Leaders Strive To Make These "The Best Of Times"

As sentimental tears fill the eyes of 152 graduates, reflections of treasured moments and cherished experiences pass through the corridors of each girl's mind. Four years of growth and laughter have come to an end, but not to a standstill. "Now it is time," they say, "to apply what has been learned."

Modern life demands strength and leadership in a woman. These 152 girls are prepared to face pressures and responsibilities and are determined to accomplish the goals ahead of them. They have tried to develop the power to overcome future disappointments and hardships.

Leadership is not new to most NDA girls, especially those who have held an office during the last four years. Capable and devoted officers have aimed their talents and ambitions at the prosperity of their class.

This year a stunning combination of four unique girls led the seniors of 82. Anne Marie, Mary Sue, Barb, and Naomi contributed their mutual enthusiasm, amoung other gifts, to the good of their class. Success came by the bushelsful because of the outgoing spirit of the class.

Though the ball didn't always bounce back up to greet them and the cookies sometimes crumbled in their hands, this class has held together, grown together and now, takes leave

By the Skin of Their Teeth

Senior Stars Steal The Spotlight In An Extraordinary Play Production

Lights dimmed as the audience's rolling laughter slowly turned into a quiet ripple of anxious voices anticipating events of the play which they are about to see.

Backstage, hearts pounded and knees shook as the nervous actresses and actors hurriedly ran through their lines one last time before their cue . . .

The spotlight hit the podium as Megan Kneisley and Deborah Davis, assistant directors, announced the peculiar and somewhat outrageous plot of the play.

From this point on followed a series of bizzare happenings, starting with a glacier moving across the continent. In the end a war broke out, but all the Antrobuses somehow survived.

"The Skin Of Our Teeth" was a unique choice for a senior class play — a fact which reflected originality in the class of '82.

Led, and daily urged on by Mrs. Patricia Sanders, the senior cast struggled through late night practices and early morning rehearsals preparing for the big weekend.

With the help of St. Francis' and St. John's young men, the seniors' play surprised their audience with talent to produce a difficult play. A preview given to the student body provoked everyone's curiosity and eagerness to see the entire production.

1982 Seniors Reign In Splendor And Joy With Crowns, Candy, Carnations

St. Lucy's day has long been a tradition at Notre Dame. Crowns, flowers, and sweet candy have combined to create an established custom that proves beautiful year after year.

For over three years, the class of '82 waited in anticipation of that day when they would be honored by the entire student body. Finally the crowns bedecked the girls of '82.

Behind the elaborate celebration, a wave of sentimentality washed the hearts and minds of those wearing crowns. A few happy tears were shed, but more often there was a smile to embrace each touching moment.

Some may not be aware that the practice of honoring the oldest girl of the family is actually a Swedish tradition. At Notre Dame however, the tradition has been modified. The crown is made of paper rather than the original wreath of candles.

Although there have been changes, the same practice of recognizing the eldest girl, each in a special way, has prevailed.

"Dwarf" Greets Snow-White Christmas

Belles And Beaux Welcome Ann As New Christmas Dance Queen

With the coming of senior year, Christmas dance took on a new and special meaning. It was not only the last year the girls had the opportunity to go to the dance, but one of the lucky senior girls was to be crowned queen for the year. This lucky girl was Ann Marie Francel.

Who would have guessed that a year later, after being a junior court member, that Ann Marie would be sitting in the queen's chair having the crown placed on her head by Kris Kneisley, last year's queen?

Each date-dance holds a special joy. Although there are smiles and laughter present, there is also a touch of sadness as each senior girl realizes that this is the last time she will see the N.D. auditorium turned into a magical wonderland full of romantic mystery.

Senior Goldtrotters Dribble Way Through Intramural Tournament

What is a Goldtrotter? Ask any one of the members of the class of '82 and one may get an answer like this one from Jean Domansky, a former Goldtrotter. "A Gold-trotter is a hard working athlete who strives to reach the highest possible goals in life."

Carol Lindsley, who coached the team from sophomore to senior year, comments on the team. "In my three years of coaching, it's my impression that a Goldtrotter must be a combination of athlete and cheerleader with a strong loyalty to the class of '82."

Year after year the trotters did their best and no matter what the outcome, the close-knit group could always find something to smile about. As Trish Hausknecht puts it, "We always played well as a team. We spent so much time practicing together that we became good friends, and that's always something to smile about!"

Senior year saw the arrival of a new intramural sport, "powderpuff" football. Far from the familiar shape of the basketball, the football posed quite a few problems for both seniors and juniors. When the last whistle blew though, the final score read 12-8 in favor of the green and gold.

Whether it was basketball, football or any other activity in between, the class of '82 was a group of winners. In years to come, memories and records will be the lasting proof of '82's success.

The final accomplishment came when the senior Goldtrotters edged by the junior Shooting Stars by one point in the final seconds of the game.

Class Activities Tie Lasting Bonds

Four Years Together Strengthen Friendships Built by Class of '82

Throughout the years at Notre Dame, many of the present seniors have encountered people and circumstances that helped shape their lives. Friendships have been kindled that will last forever. These memories won't be forgotten. However, the time has come to move on. But before looking to the future, it's good to take one moment to reflect.

Freshman year . . . long skirts, stiff collars, and itchy blazers. Crowds of shy inquizitive girls roamed the halls of N.D. amazed at the sight of new people and a new school. Who would ever think that the girl sitting across the aisle in Orientation would become a life-long friend?

With the arrival of sophomore year, a new clique of friends was formed. How did it turn out that the girl one tried to "poke" in fencing, and tried to out-shoot in archery, would end up as a lab partner in biology and another close companion? Wonders never cease, and neither did the long hours on the phone talking about how much homework the teachers gave and how little time to do it.

As juniors, the school rumbled with the joy of the class of '82 reaching the ranks of upper-classman. Although the rings almost didn't arrive, they were a sign of unity among fellow classmates.

Senior year has now come and gone, but the memories will linger on. The future has marvelous things in store for this class. With a background of a lot of long hours of work and fun put in and lasting friendships established, each member of the class of '82 will strive to be a successful woman of the 80's.

Four Years of Work, Recreation End With Graduation of Seniors

The class of '82 now faces a challenge that has been patiently waiting for four years. Although each of these years contained the same four seasons, each year can also be considered a season in itself.

Like spring, freshman year was full of growth and adventure. While still considered "green" by upperclass members, '82 had the unique ability to stretch that stereotype into a rainbow of imaginative colors. Fresh ideas accompanied with a sense of purpose set the pace for the next three years.

As spring's blossoms flourish under the summer warmth, so too did '82's talents nurture during sophomore year. Summer's youthfulness found full satisfaction in the spirit displayed in everything from mission fair to intramurals. But as autumn brings the reality that summer has swiftly fled, junior year stepped in with little warning of its arrival.

Autumn's debut came in a dazzling starburst of color, bringing with it new and exciting decisions. Winter's storm watch was in the forecast and many preparations had to be made. The seemingly endless list of career choices had to be sorted out and seriously considered before any major decisions.

And suddenly it was winter. Cold, bare and lonely, yet a calming beauty can be found in its silent serenity. Most of the major decisions had been made and now was the time to "let it happen." Though the brooks and streams were glazed, beneath the icy frame, the waters ran free and alive. But like the other seasons, winter too soon took its seat in the realms of yore.

Soon it was spring once again . . .
